European Studies (B.A.)

The bachelor's programme European Studies is an interdisciplinary course of study focussing on economic, social and culture sciences. As a central part of the course students learn social and economic skills relevant to Europe. These skills are required for analysis and understanding of the European Integration process and the use of educational and cultural scientific knowledge that enable careful dealings with diverse European cultures and the practical language training in three modern European languages (students improve their knowledge of two languages and a third is learnt from the beginning onwards). The course specifically specialises in 'Middle and Eastern Europe'.
